Taking stock of the situation of e-archiving in Luxembourg

Legal and technical implications

21 June 2011 - The Novotel, Luxembourg-Kirchberg

Taking stock of the situation of e-archiving in Luxembourg Legal and technical implications

Luxembourg law has allowed companies to dematerialize documents and destroy originals since 1986.

Yet, few companies have decided to implement a real e-archiving policy at this date.

An ambitious reform of e-archiving is currently under review and now is a good time to take stock of the situation of e-archiving in Luxembourg.

Presentation will be followed by a Q&A session.

Speaker:

Cyril Pierre-Beausse,

*Attorney-at-law and Head of the IT and Privacy practice of Allen & Overy Luxembourg
President of the Luxembourg chapter of FedISA*

Cyril Pierre-Beausse, a former IT professional, is a lawyer and leads Allen & Overy Luxembourg's IT and Privacy practice. Cyril specialises in IT, data protection and internet law as well as in digital trust issues. He lectures IT law at the University of Luxembourg and is the President of the Luxembourg chapter of FedISA, an international e-archiving association.
